

HIGHER TELEPHONE RATES ARE ASKED

New Local Schedule Requested in Petition Filed by Southern Indiana Telephone & Telegraph Co.

HEARING TO BE HELD APRIL 10

Corporation Claims That Properties Are Operated at Loss Under Rates Recently Fixed.

A petition asking for the privilege of increasing telephone rates in this city was filed with the Indiana public service commission today by the Southern Indiana Telephone & Telegraph Company, which owns and controls the Seymour telephone system and a number of exchanges in Jackson county. The rates in this city were adjusted by the commission effective December 1, and at that time L. C. Griffiths, president of the local corporation, gave notice that a petition for further increases would be filed.

The petition just filed seeks material advances in local rates. It asks that single line business phones be charged at the rate of $4 a month net and the party line business phones pay $3.50 a month net. Other rates requested are:

Single party line residence, $2.25 net; two party line residence, $2 net; four party line residence, $1.50; rural party line business, $3; rural party line residence, $1.75; rural party line residence privately owned, 75 cents; extension business phone, $1; extension phone residence, 50 cents; switching charges for connecting companies 25 cents a month per telephone.

The company contends that the rates in this city are considerably lower than in other towns of this size where practically the same service is rendered. It sets out in its petition that it has incurred the following losses during the last six months: September, $241.34; October, $222.35; November, $139.35; December, $699.87; January, $390.21; February, $250.54.

The company claims that because of increasing expenses its losses for the year will amount to $3,887.44 under present conditions. It alleges that its losses in 1919 were $3,075.39.

The petition in full follows: Comes now the Southern Indiana Telephone & Telegraph Company, a corporation organized under the laws of the State of Indiana, subject to the jurisdiction of the Public Service Commission of Indiana; which on the 1st day of January, 1920, bought the property previously owned by the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company and which it now operates and respectfully represents and shows:

That—(a)—on the 27th day of November, 1918, the Seymour Mutual Telephone Company filed a petition with the Commission for authority to increase rates, and

That—(b)—after due notice the matter was heard at Seymour, Indiana, on September 26, 1919, and supplemental hearing was held on October 9, 1919, at the City Hall, and on November 29, 1919, the Commission issued its order No. 4270 authorizing certain increases in rates and the Telephone Company in due course filed its schedule of rates with the Public Service Commission and put the rates, as ordered, into effect, and

That—(c)—the Commission on its own initiative has ordered a review of the whole case on account of complaint of connecting companies and set the hearing for April 10, 1920.

Rates Increase.

That—(a)—the Commission authorized the following rates:

MORE DEATHS THAN BIRTHS REPORTED

Forty-seven Deaths and Forty-two Birth Certificates Given During First Quarter.

CITY HEALTH BOARD REPORT

Pneumonia Was Most Prevalent During Three Months' Period—Epidemic Has Disappeared.

The number of deaths exceeded the number of births by five during the first three months of this year, according to a report compiled by Dr. J. M. Shields, secretary of the city board of health. During the period there were forty-seven deaths and forty-two births, the report reveals. Under the Indiana laws death and birth certificates must be filed with the secretary of the health commission within a specified time.

Eight of the deaths during the first quarter were due to pneumonia, an epidemic of pneumonia and influenza occurred during the period covered by the report, but it is revealed that the disease is not longer epidemic in this city. New cases are reported at long intervals and those who were taken ill are recovering. The situation here so far as influenza is concerned is quite satisfactory.

Thirty causes are assigned for the forty-seven deaths reported. Of the total number of deaths twenty-four were males and twenty-three were females. During the quarter twenty-three males and nineteen females were born.

Of the total number of deaths five were of persons between thirty-five and forty years old. The ages of the others follow: 1 from one to five; 11 from five to ten; 1 from ten to fifteen; 3 from twenty-five to thirty; two from thirty to thirty-five; two from forty to forty-five; 1 from forty-five to fifty; 4 from fifty to fifty-five; 1 from fifty-five to sixty; 1 from sixty to sixty-five; 2 from sixty-five to seventy; four from seventy to seventy-five; 3 from seventy-five to eighty; 3 from eighty to eighty-five; 1 each from eighty-five to ninety and from ninety to ninety-five. There were ten deaths under one year old.

The number of contagious diseases reports follow: Measles, 44; smallpox, 20; influenza 10; scarlet fever, 2; diphtheria, 1; spinal meningitis, 1.

There are a few scattered cases of smallpox in the city but these are under strict quarantine and the patients are not seriously ill. The light form in which the disease appeared this spring resulted in some difficulty in enforcing the quarantine regulations as the patients were not sick enough to remain in bed and regarded it as a hardship to keep at home.

FIFTEEN CARS DERAILED NEAR LEXINGTON TODAY

Baltimore & Ohio Branch Passenger Trains Detoured Through This City.

Fifteen cars of a Baltimore & Ohio freight train enroute to Louisville on the Louisville branch were derailed near Lexington this morning and as a result traffic on that road will be held up for several hours. The cause of the wreck had not been reported at the division office in this city late this afternoon.

Eleven of the cars were loaded with oil and the other four contained coal and merchandise. The train was in charge of Conductor J. B. Moritz and Engineer H. R. Redman. Wrecking crews from Cincinnati and Jeffersonville were called to the scene and it is expected that the wreck will be cleared away by 8 o'clock tonight. Passenger train No. 45, southbound, and No. 41, eastbound, were detoured through this city over the Pennsylvania railroad. All of the crew on the wrecked train escaped injury.

CANDIDATES FILE FOR THE PRIMARIES

Time for Placing Declarations on Record With County Clerk Closed at 4 p. m.

SIX ASPIRE TO BE SHERIFF

Only One Contest for Precinct Committee-men in Democratic and Republican Lists.

The time fixed in the Indiana primary law for aspirants for public office to file their declarations of candidacy with the county clerk closed at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Throughout the day there was considerable activity at the office of Frank L. Schornick, county clerk, as candidates, party leaders and others called to file names or to check up the entries to see that no omissions had been made.

Under the primary law the candidates who are without opposition will not be voted on in the primary election May 4, and their names will not appear on the ballots. Now that the time for filing declarations has expired the election commissioners will meet and arrange the copy for the ballots so that they may be printed in ample time before May 4.

Dr. H. Lett, Republican county chairman, and C. W. Burkart, Democratic county chairman, were in Brownstown this morning. They filed the names of the precinct committeemen, the petitions having been filed with them instead of with the county clerk. The candidates for public offices, however, filed direct with the clerk. Candidates for joint senator, representative, and prosecuting attorney filed with the secretary of state.

The Republican candidates who had filed at noon today follow: Joint Senator—Frank B. Butler, Crothersville.

NOTE FOR $436 FOR DAIRY ASSOCIATION DEBT LIFTED

Ten Men Who Signed The Paper Make Settlement—City Forbidden to Assume Obligation.

A debt of $436 incurred by the City of Seymour in 1918 when the dairy association planned to hold a state meeting in this city, was lifted today when ten citizens who indorsed the paper settled with the bank. The debt was created because arrangements had been made to bring the state meeting here and it was cancelled by the state health board three days before it was to open on account of the influenza epidemic.

Inasmuch as the debt was regarded as a public obligation the city council was asked to assume it, and four of the councilmen agreed for the city to pay the amount. Eugene Ireland, Fourth ward councilman, opposed the action and took the matter up with the state board of accounts. He was informed that the council had no authority to assume the obligation.

Horrid Old Weather Man Concentrates All The Easter Sunshine in Far West.

Washington, April 3—Weather forecasters today dampened and froze Easter hopes. Only on the Pacific coast do the weather dopesters hold out any hope of ideal conditions for the showing of hats on women and trick coats on men. On the coast it will probably be fair and the temperature will be moderate. The forecast for other sections follow: West of the Mississippi it will be cool and winter coats will conceal Easter finery. East of the Mississippi it will rain. Around the Great Lakes and in the upper Mississippi valley snow is in prospect.

MUSIC TO FEATURE EASTER SERVICES

Order of Worship in Local Churches Tomorrow Will Be Interesting and Impressive.

AUDIENCES WILL BE LARGE

Weather Conditions are Uncertain as Rain, Cold or Even Snow May Come Before Tomorrow.

Local churches, today had completed plans for impressive Easter services tomorrow. Interesting and impressive programs have been arranged for the various services throughout the day and a number of special features have been announced by practically every church.

Weather conditions were rather uncertain. The weather bureau in Indianapolis today predicted rain, cold and even snow in some parts of the state before morning. Freezing temperature was forecast as a certainty. Seymour ministers said that while a bright Easter Sunday quite naturally resulted in large audiences, Easter is one of the big church going days of the year and predicted that the auditoriums would be filled regardless of the weather.

"I have found that people go to church on Easter Sunday even if they have to plow through snow," said one pastor today. "A few years ago a terrific blizzard and snow storm came on Easter and my church was filled at all services. People want to attend church on this day and won't let rain or snow keep them at home."

Music will be a feature of the Easter services in Seymour tomorrow. A number of choirs have made elaborate preparations for the day and at a few Easter cantatas will be given either in the afternoon or night. Some of the churches have announced that the morning service will be devoted to the baptismal rites and the reception of members.

Places of worship tomorrow will be decorated with a profusion of flowers and greenery. Committees have been at work throughout the day in some of the churches arranging the floral decorations which are designed to add to the beauty of the services.

ASKS WITHDRAWAL OF GERMAN TROOPS

Premier Millerand of France, Addresses Note to Dr. Von Mayer, Charge'D Affairs.

FORCES IN RUHR DISTRICT

Insists Danger of Uprising by Communists is Over and Treaty is Being Violated.

By United Press. Paris, April 3—Premier Millerand today set a new note to Dr. Von Mayer, the German charge of affairs, inviting immediate withdrawal of German government troops in the Ruhr district.

Millerand restated France's position. He insisted that France had the right to occupy Rhine cities if Germany's violation of the peace treaty continues.

Millerand's latest note was in reply to a communication from Von Mayer which said it had been established that the Ruhr communists were in touch with the Russian soviets of Moscow by wireless, and that immediate steps were necessary to prevent a renewed outbreak in the German "red" efforts to establish a soviet republic.

France, it was understood, took the position today that the danger of the Ruhr revolt has passed and that the soviet threat was a German subterfuge to avoid fulfillment of the terms of the peace treaty.

News dispatches from the disordered area bore out the French contentions declaring the armed revolt had collapsed and that the workers' "red" army was surrendering its guns.

DISTRICT ATTORNEYS WILL WATCH RETAIL COAL PRICES

Instructions Issued by Attorney General—Average Boost of 40 Cents a Ton Reasonable.

By United Press.

Washington, April 3—Attorney General Palmer today notified all district attorneys to watch coal prices in their localities to halt profiteering resulting from removal of government price regulation on April 1.

An average increase of 40 cents a ton may be taken as a maximum reasonable increase likely to result from the raising of miners' wages twenty-seven percent, according to a letter Palmer sent district attorneys.

"Our total annual production is approximately 500,000,000 tons," the letter read. "It is estimated that the total increase in wages will be $200,000,000 per annum. If this entire amount is added by the operators to the price it would only make an increase of 40 cents a ton if, however, the operators absorb the fourteen per cent. increase which became effective in December there will be left only $96,000,000 to be passed on to the consumer. In this event the increase of the price of coal at the mines would about 20 cents a ton."

BRITISH MILITARY FORCES ARE ACTIVE IN IRELAND

Ready to Answer if Any Attempt at Easter Revolution is Made.

By United Press.

Dublin, April 3—British military authorities throughout Ireland today were preparing to crush any attempt at an Easter uprising. Dublin resembled an armed camp. Soldiers with full marching equipment were everywhere. Sinn Fein leaders scoffed at the idea of a rebellion. They intimated the rumor had been started merely as part of the Sinn Fein plan of political agitation to embarrass the British authorities. Military officials believe the only possibility of an outbreak was in the Cork district where feeling has been particularly bitter since the assassination of Thomas MacCurtain, the lord mayor.

URGES PEOPLE TO FIGHT CATARRH WITH SIMPLE HOME MADE REMEDY

Can Make Pint at Home and Costs Little, Says Leading Druggist of Covington, Ky., Who Has Made Special Study of Catarrh.

Says: Inflamed Nostrils Invite Influenza

People who say that catarrh is a disease not to be taken seriously are harshly rebuked by a Kentucky druggist who has for years been much interested in the growth of this loathsome, yet altogether too common disease.

He claims that the sore, tender, inflamed membrane of the nostrils and throat is a prolific breeding ground for germs—not only the germs of Influenza, but many other kinds as well.

If people would only stop experimenting for two weeks and try a simple remedy made of Mentholized Arcine mixed with enough boiled water to make a full pint, half of the catarrh in this country would be abolished. It's really no joke for people who don't know about this simple recipe to be constantly sniffing and snuffing, blowing and hawking, when all these obnoxious symptoms as well as the foul discharge can be made to disappear in a few days.

Ask for three-quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcine—that's all you need and after you have mixed it with enough boiled water to make a pint, gargle the throat twice daily and snuff or spray some up the nostrils, as directed.

The tender nostrils will soon lose their soreness, heal up, and be clean and healthy.

Important Reminder: Just as soon as anyone in the family gets a cold in the head, check it at once with this same medicine.

Take Stock in Series A

Every six months, on the first Monday in April and October, the Cooperative Building and Loan Association starts a new series of stock. The next series A will open next Monday, April 6. You can take stock any time but the best time is when the series opens.

You pay in twenty-five cents per week for each share of stock you take. This money is loaned on first mortgage security and every three months the interest is apportioned to the credit of every series until the payments and interest amount to one hundred dollars. The stock is then matured and the full amount is paid to you in cash.

In the last several series the stockholders have paid in about $81.00 each and withdrawn $100.00 making a profit of about $19.00 per share. You may subscribe for as many shares as you can carry and your profits will be in proportion to the number you take.

There are many advantages to the building and loan association plan.

Switching charges for connecting companies $.25 per month per telephone.

The net rate shall be charged if the bills are paid within ten days, beginning with the day the bill is due. When the tenth day falls on Sunday or a legal holiday, the day following said Sunday or legal holiday shall be included in the discount period.

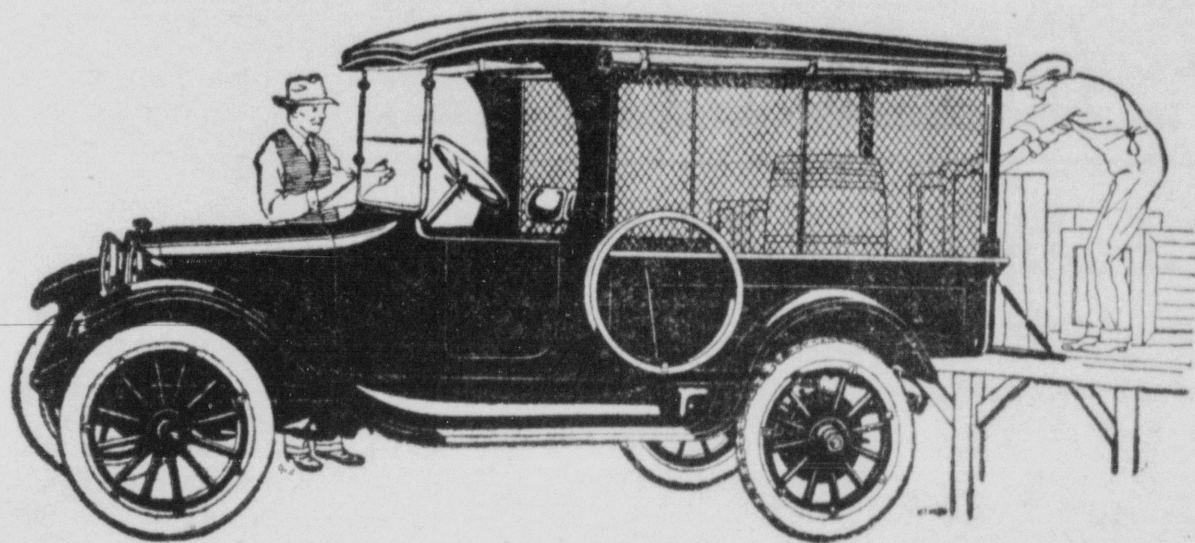

As shown by Exhibit C attached hereto these rates are reasonable when compared to like exchanges in surrounding territory and that as shown by this schedule the Commission has authorized substantially these rates for surrounding exchanges and in addition allowed toll revenue of approximately 50 percent of the revenue collected for long distance business, whereas under our present contract with long distance companies we only receive approximately 30 percent, therefore, your petitioner prays that the Commission carefully consider this evidence submitted and after a hearing grant the petitioner such relief as evidence shows they are entitled to.

I Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Now I Can Do all My Own Work.

Charleston, Ill.—"I suffered for four years with female troubles and a displacement. I was not able to do any work and was a misery to myself and my family. A friend recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me and I got a bottle. I saw it was helping me and so I kept on taking it and now I am able to do all my own work and feel so much better. I tell every woman about this fine Vegetable Compound and you may use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."

The Valley of the Giants

The first story to adequately portray the majesty and grandeur of the big tree section of California and to use it as an effective setting for a stirring work of fiction.

Peter B. Kyne

in this principality of the woods, the redwood forests; an area four hundred miles long and of an average width of thirty miles; has introduced events and human participants well in keeping with the stupendous environment. The people are those who conquered a wilderness and hewed out a path for civilization—prototypes of the forest giants against which they prevailed. True to its locality and written by one who has lived among and been a part of the life he so delightfully pictures, it is one of the big books of American romance, action and incident. To know Kyne in any of his stories is wholesome; to know "The Valley of the Giants" is exhilarating in the highest degree.

HOOVERS

HOME FURNISHERS

First Methodist Episcopal Church.

Charles W. Whitman, Minister.

The services for Easter Sunday will be as follows:

The sunrise prayer meeting will be held at 6 o'clock and will close promptly at 7 o'clock. Let us have one hundred at this service and make it a most beautiful and inspiring service to lead in the worship of the day.

The Sunday School Easter committee will bring a splendid program in the Sunday School hour. This service will begin promptly at 9:15. The school has made large preparations for 500 in attendance and for $200.00 for our Centenary Pledge. This amount is our annual pledge to the Centenary cause and surely we can easily raise this amount. Let us "boost" for our Sunday School on Easter Day.

The preaching services will be held at the usual hours. The Epworth League service will be held at 6:30 in the evening. This service will render an Easter program.

In the morning service the pastor will administer the ordinance of Baptism by sprinkling to children. A number of parents will present their children for this service. This service will be given in the very beginning of the morning hour that parents may leave with their children if it seems best. We earnestly ask our membership to present their children for baptism in this service and to make public dedication of their lives to the service of the Master and the interests of the Kingdom. At the close of this service the pastor will administer baptism to those of riper years and receive into full membership all who present themselves. We shall have a goodly number coming into full membership into the church on Sunday morning. How beautiful to make public confession for Christ on Easter day and to seek larger fellowship with his church. We ask any who have no church home and feel they would like a church home with our people to avail themselves of this day and its privileges.

At the close of this beautiful service the pastor will give a message on "Immortality."

In the evening service the choir will render a special program of music. The pastor will deliver a brief message on "The Ministry of the Resurrection."

We earnestly appeal to our membership and friends to attend all these services. It is a glorious privilege to partake of Easter service and worship. May we have large hearings on all our services.

Praying for Peace on Earth and Good Will among all men, we most cordially invite the public to worship with us.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

AMERICAN SCOUTING'S START

Everybody knows of the Boy Scouts, but few people are aware that one small boy in a crowded London street inadvertently planted the acorn that has grown into that sturdy oak, the Boy Scouts of America.

W. D. Boyce of Chicago in 1900, on his way to a certain destination in London, lost his way in the devious mazes of that city. Pausing in uncertainty to get his bearings, he was confronted by a small boy who saluted and asked politely if he might be of service. Pleased by the lad's manner and grateful for the timely offer of aid, Mr. Boyce accepted the lad's guidance, and arrived at the goal, offered him a shilling. To his amazement the boy drew himself up, saluted with dignity and replied that he was a boy scout, and a scout never took tips for small deeds of courtesy. His curiosity piqued by this response, the American asked pertinent questions as to boy scouts, of whom he knew nothing at the time. He was promptly conveyed to the British scout headquarters and introduced to Sir Robert Baden-Powell.

When Mr. Boyce sailed for home he brought with him a trunkful of scout literature and a determination that American boys should have scouting at once and effectively.

SCOUT LEADER'S UNIFORM

War Department Advice and Experience Have Been Followed in This New Model Uniform.

SCOUTS AID OVERWORKED CATS.

The boy scouts have rallied to the aid of Chicago's hard-pressed cats, and some much-dreaded infectious diseases will not spread further—not if the boys and the cats can help it.

An intensive campaign for the extermination of rats and ground squirrels has been launched by the scouts. Eight thousand scouts, taking with them some hundreds of rat terriers, are in search of the rodents.

The most energetic boys and the best trained terriers will lurk about South Water street, where the biggest rats are to be found.

MOTHER'S VIEW OF SCOUTING

Here is what the mother of a Chicago scout told his scoutmaster over the telephone one day:

"Mr. Scoutmaster, I am very much disappointed in the scout organization. I thought my boy would be changed completely after he joined the scouts. I thought he would attend to his chores cheerfully and be more thoughtful of his mother."

The scoutmaster at the next troop meeting gave a talk to his boys concerning home duties, and noticed that the boy in question did not seem to pay much attention to him, if he heard what was said.

"I heard you all right," said the scout. "But if I should help at home the other fellows will find it out and call me sissie."

"Will the other fellows stand by you when you need a friend? Is it not your mother that you go to for a little change for the movies, and when you want a favor granted? Why not return some of these by helping her whenever you can? If you cannot stand a little chaff from the boys you are not a brave scout, are you?" The lad went away, and not long thereafter the mother again telephoned the scoutmaster and said: "I do not know what you said or how you accomplished it, but my boy is completely changed since I spoke to you last. I have never had to talk to him a second time about his work and he is most courteous and thoughtful of me."

HEADQUARTERS TROOPS HIKE.

How would you like to start a hike with an envelope containing sealed orders, knowing that all the rest of your troop were going to do the same thing? Each envelope gave instructions to follow a route according to photographs of landmarks, supplemented by compass directions, and each scout would thereby come to the spot where the troop was to have its campfire.

It was in this way that the treasure hunt of Troop No. 413 of the national headquarters office began, and at the end of the trail there were treasures consisting of kits for each of the successful scouts. A number of these found within the kits their badges for advanced classifications which they had earned within the month.

Accompanying this troop was a party of scout officials from national headquarters. Roast chicken and pork chops, campfire songs and stories, and a talk by Scout Executive Lawrence Harris of Hammond, Ind., ended the seven-mile hike.

Troop 413 spends each week-end in its tents somewhere about New York city, and will always welcome boy scout visitors provided only that they have their own equipment.

SONG OF THE ROVER PATROL.

Swing your pack, swing your pack, Rover Patrol,
Far down the mystery, somewhere's a goal.
Far down the luring road into the haze,
Into the blue of the long Far-Aways.
Rover scout, boy scout, quest in your soul,
Shoulder your pack for the unknown goal.
Nightfall and solitude, Rover Patrol;
Cookfire and campfire and brown blanket roll;
Blanket and starlight and wind in the tree,
Night wind and stars are no freer than we;
Crackle and firelight and red-glowing coal;
Trails into slumberland, luring the soul.
Hint of light, fade of night, Rover Patrol;
River mist rising and filling the bowl.
Swing of pack, homeward track,
Every week out and back;
Gipsying, hiking, just going's our goal.
Off to the Far-Away, Rover Patrol.
—BY CLARK ELBERT SCHURMAN.

NEWSBOYS HAVE SCOUT TROOP.

Thirty-three boys attended the first meeting of the Newsboys' Troop of Scouts, composed of boys working for the Muskegon (Mich.) Chronicle.

Scout Executive Charles D. Maddox addressed the boys on "What a Scout Is, and What Is Expected of Him." Every ear was strained to hear his words. Every boy was held breathless as he was told what a big thing it is to be a scout, the meaning of the tenderfoot badge, and the fact that when business men see a boy wearing the scout badge they know that that boy will be a success. "No matter if you are a millionaire or the son of a laboring man, you will never be a success in life unless you live up to the scout law, even if you are not a scout," said the executive.

BRONZE MEDAL FOR BOY SCOUT.

A bronze honor medal has been awarded Scout Raymond S. Brinkman of Alplaus, N. Y., by the National Court of Honor of the Boy Scouts of America for his act of saving the life of Jeannette Rosenstock.

This is one of the highest awards which any scout can receive for life saving. Scout Brinkman is the first scout under the Schenectady boy scout council to receive this honor.

Miss Rosenstock was rescued by the scout when she was skating on the Mohawk river near her home at Alplaus. She fell through the ice into about 30 feet of water, and although she was able to keep her head above the water she was rapidly sinking, owing to the heavy woolen clothing she had on. Through the prompt action of Scout Brinkman, the girl was rescued and taken to her home.

EPISCOPALIANS LAUD SCOUTS.

A resolution certifying to the benefits of boy scout training was adopted by the house of deputies of the Episcopal convention at Detroit, as follows:

"Resolved, the house of bishops concurring, that this convention expresses its approval, appreciation and thanks for the trustworthy, courteous and reverent service of the boy scouts who have volunteered from the Detroit council, Boy Scouts of America, to render as a good turn their valuable assistance as pages in both houses of this convention.

"And be it further resolved, the house of bishops concurring, that the general convention commends the Boy Scouts of America as an effective agency in welfare work among boys."

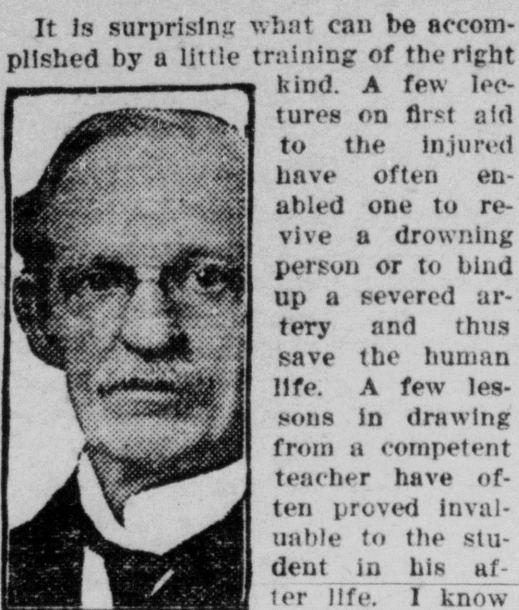

SCOUTS CANVASS FOR COAL.

In the midst of the coldest weather in 30 years Butte, Mont., was virtually without coal. In addition thousands were out of work as a result of industrial shut-downs due to the coal shortage, and many families were in want. For several days the poorer families of the city had been supplied with fuel by destruction of old wooden buildings, dating back to Butte's early days, but this source became exhausted. Boy scouts, in a canvass of the city, obtained 600 pounds of coal, which was distributed in small lots where most needed.

The Value of Special Training

By REV. HOWARD W. POPE
Moody Bible Institute,
Chicago

TEXT.—Study to show thyself approved unto God.—II Tim. 2:15.

It is surprising what can be accomplished by a little training of the right kind. A few lectures on first aid to the injured have often enabled one to revive a drowning person or to bind up a severed artery and thus save the human life. A few lessons in drawing from a competent teacher have often proved invaluable to the student in his after life. I know a little girl who after a few lessons in drawing in the public school, entered a contest for a certain prize where there were 50,000 competitors and she won the prize. One of the signs of the times is the increased demand for skilled labor. Cheap labor is plentiful, but skilled labor is scarce. Hence, all over the country are springing up technical schools for training the eye, the ear, the voice; schools for nurses, journalists and designers. The world is weary of incompetent help. Wages are no consideration, only give us men and women who know how.

Since the Bible is the instrument by which conversion is usually effected, every Christian should learn how to use it. The Bible is called the sword of the Spirit, but of what use is the sword to one who has not taken fencing lessons? His opponent can disarm him in a moment, and leave him utterly defenseless. Even so many Christians who might wield the sword of the Spirit with tremendous power are almost impotent for the lack of a little training in the use of the Bible.

A girl of sixteen who had been converted only a week found in the inquiry room a married couple with no one to talk to them. She approached them modestly, opened up the subject of their relation to the Savior and, when they offered any excuse, she would answer, "Yes it may seem so to you but God says so and so," and then she would read the passage. Before long all three of them were on their knees in prayer.

A friend of mine was giving studies on personal work in a New England town. A woman present, whose husband was a septic, committed to memory two verses that seemed especially appropriate to her husband's case. At the supper table that night he began an usual some attack on the Bible. When he had finished, she quietly quoted the two verses that she had learned.

"Where do you get that?" he inquired fiercely.

"In the Bible."

"Do you mean to say that those words are in the Bible?"

"I do."

"Show them to me."

She brought the Bible and pointed out the passage. When he read it, he laid down the book, and said, "Wife, I am wrong and there is only one thing for me to do, and that is confess my sin to God and plead for mercy," and pushing his chair from the table he added, "I might as well do it now as ever," and together they knelt in prayer for the first time in their lives. All the wife had done was to quote a passage of Scripture; but it was the passage that fitted the case, and hence the result.

A man might own a whole drug store; but if he did not know where to find the drugs, or their various medicinal properties, he would be of little use to the sick. Even so a Christian may have a Bible that contains remedies for every spiritual condition but if he does not know where to find them, or how to use them, he will have little success as a soul-winner. The training-class shows how to diagnose a case, what remedies to use and where to find them.

I know of a training class out of which three young men started for the ministry, two young women went into mission work and one offered herself for the foreign field. Out of another class of 16 members, two became ministers, 12 went to the foreign field, one is a trained nurse, and one is a religious reporter on a daily paper. Another class of 20 members sent nearly all the number into some form of Christian work. The fact is, that when people know how to do Christian work well, they love it. Why not have a training class in your church? These are stirring times, and God needs every available worker. Will you be one, and will you advocate a training class in your community until you get it?

Many a person knows that he ought to be a Christian, and expects to take that step sometime, but fails to realize that if it is the right thing to do at all, it ought to be done at once. By neglecting to take this step immediately he is losing valuable time which ought to be used in training for the Master's service, and a whole life-time of service is altogether too small to repay the debt of gratitude which he owes to the Lord Jesus Christ, who gave his life for him.

LADY LARKSPUR

MEREDITH NICHOLSON

We reached Barton at nine o'clock and after an informal supper I listened to Antoine's solemn reports as I walked to the garage. The prisoner had made no sign, he said, and nothing had occurred during the day.

"But there's this, Mr. Singleton, which you ought to know, sir. The old Tynningham people don't like the goings on here. You'll admit it's all mighty queer. I don't complain, sir, but some of the boys threaten to leave, sir. And I look at it this way, that nobody understanding what the spying and bribes offered and taking prisoners is all about, is most peculiar. We got to know where we stand, that's what it's come to, sir. And the widow being flightylike and Flynn coming home and saying nothing, but shaking his head when we ask him where he's been—You see for yourself, sir, how it looks to us."

What he said as to the general aspect of things was true, but I didn't admit that it was true. Alice had converted me to the notion that I was a character in a story, a plaything of fate, and I lightly brushed aside Antoine's melancholy plaint.

"Any man of you," I said, "who leaves this property will be brought back and shot. Tell that to the boys!"

Nevertheless, the perfect equality of the gentleman in the tool house when I visited him the next morning shook my faith a trifle in the story-book features of life at Barton. He was an exemplary prisoner, the guards reported, and he had maintained the strictest silence in my absence. He ate, smoked, and read, courteously thanking the men for their attentions, and that was all. When I showed myself at the window he rose and threw down the magazine he was reading and replied good naturedly to my inquiry as to how he was getting along.

"I have no complaint except that the guards snore outrageously. The poor old chaps will sleep, you know."

"If you're so badly guarded, why don't you escape?" I asked tartly.

"It would relieve your mind a lot if I should disappear?" he asked insinuatingly.

"If you will come to your senses and tell me the meaning of your visits here, we may agree upon terms. As it stands, you're a trespasser; you tried to bribe a servant to rob the house. If you're at all familiar with criminal law in this country, you can estimate the number of years' imprisonment that will be handed you for these little indiscretions."

"If it's so plain, why don't you hand me over to the authorities?" he asked, provokingly cool.

"I'm giving you a chance to confess and tell who's back of all this. Tell me just why your confederate Montani is annoying Mrs. Bashford, and I'll turn you loose."

"If you wait for me to confess anything, you will wait forever," he replied. "I repeat that we are impelled by the same motives, you and I. I think I needn't enlighten you as to what they are."

"I shall be glad to hear your idea of my motives," I answered feebly.

"I shall be frank," he replied readily. "The reason you don't turn me over to the police is the very simple one that you don't want to embarrass the mistress of the house yonder by causing the light of publicity to beat upon her very charming head. You wish to save her annoyance, and possibly something much graver. I can see that you are impressed; but it ought to please you to know that I share your feeling of delicacy where she is concerned. And let me add that the Count Montani is animated by like feeling. So there we are, exactly on the same ground."

"You haven't answered my questions," I blustered to hide my annoyance at being thrust further into the dark. "You don't understand Mrs. Bashford. I went on hurriedly. 'It is inconceivable that anyone should wish to injure her or that she could have committed any act that would cause her to be spied upon. She's tremendously imaginative; she indulges in little fancies that are a part of her charm!'"

"Little fancies!" he repeated, hiding a yawn. "It's deplorable for a pretty woman to have an imagination; there's danger there!"

"Your philosophy bores me," I said, and left him. He had lied about the snoring of the guards—Antoine satisfied me of that—but I gave instructions to double the watch.

CHAPTER V.

Alice.

I wanted to be alone and struck off for a wood that lay on the northern end of the estate. This was the most picturesque spot on the property, a wild confusion of trees and boulders. On a summit in the midst of it Uncle Bash had built a platform round a majestic pine from which to view the Sound. I mounted the ladder and was brushing the dead leaves from the bench when, somewhere below me and farther on, I heard voices.

"Try it from that boulder there, Alice," said Mrs. Farnsworth. "It's an ideal place, created for the very purpose."

I could see them moving about and hear the swish of shrubbery and the scraping of their feet on the rough slope.

"How will that do?" asked Alice. "Beautifully," replied Mrs. Farnsworth. "Now go ahead from the beginning of the scene."

Cautiously drawing back the branches, I espied Alice striking a pose on a mammoth rock. She bent forward, clasping her knees, and with an occasional glance at what appeared to be an open book beside her, she began:

"You ask me who I am, my lord? It matters not at all who or what I am; let it suffice that berries are my food and the brook that sings behind me gives me drink. To be one thing or another is weariness. Would you ask yonder oak for a name, or trouble the wind with like foolish questions? No; it is enough that a tree is strong and fine to look upon and that a wind has healing in its wings."

the topless towers of Ilim. Today I am Rosalind in the forest of Arden, and tomorrow I may be Antigone, or Ariel or Viola, or what you will. I am what I make myself or choose to be. I pray you, let that suffice."

My face was wet with perspiration, and my heart thumped wildly. For either I was stark, staring mad, or these were lines from Searles' "Lady Larkspur," the manuscript of which was carefully locked in my trunk.

"That should be spoken a trifle more slowly, and with the best air of unpremeditatedness you can put into it," Mrs. Farnsworth was saying. "You can work it out better when you've memorized the lines. It's immensely effective having the last scene come back to the big boulder on the mountainside. Let me look at that a minute."

She took up the manuscript—there was no question of the blue cover of my copy of "Lady Larkspur"—and turned to the passage she sought.

"Let me read this over," Mrs. Farnsworth continued. "I have played my lord, at hide-and-seek with the stars, and I have run races with the hawks. You alone of all that have sought me are equally fleet of foot and heart! If you but touch my hand, I am lost forever. And this hand—I beg you look at it—is as brown as a berry and as rough as hickory bark. A wild little hand and not lightly to be yielded at any man's behest. Look at me carefully, my lord. She rises to full height quickly. Let me see you do that, Alice."

Alice's golden head became more distinctly visible as she stood erect upon the boulder.

"Oh, no! You can improve on that; it must be done lightly and quickly, just touching the tips of your fingers to the rock. Ah, splendid! Now stand with one hand dropped upon the hip—let me see how that looks. Very good; now repeat these lines after me. 'This other world, of which you speak?' Shake your head slowly, frowning; every hint of sincere doubt and questioning you can throw into look and gesture. 'Is it a kind world, a place of honest hearts? You have spoken of cities, and crowded avenues, of music and theaters and many things I have read of but never seen. You promise me much, but what should I do in so vast a company? I am very happy here. Spring and summer fill my hands with flowers and in winter I lay my face to the wind that carries sleet and snow. All this is a new world. Arms stretched out. You mustn't make that stiff—very good. 'Earth and sky and forest belong to me. The morning comes down the valley in search of me and the tired day finds me good night at the western gate. You would change rags for silk?' You turn your body and catch you—'let in your hands, looking down at them; you are barefoot in this scene. I'll have to practice that turn. w—'And yet I should lose my do—on; in that world you boast of I should no more be 'Lady Larkspur.'"

PETER B. KYNE

This remarkable product of California jumped into fame overnight. While a clerk in a country store he sent a story to a San Francisco magazine. It was so original that the publication accepted it with enthusiasm and printed a query to readers as to the identity of the author. No one had ever heard of him as a writer, but in a short time the magazine began to receive replies from the backwoods section wherein he lived with original anecdotes about "Pete." Several more short stories from his pen appeared and then the publishers and editors began to camp on his doorstep. His "Cappy Ricks" sketches have been received with delight in all portions of the country, have been dramatized, put into motion pictures and run as serials. Pre-eminent in the short story field, he has done some excellent novels, of which "The Valley of the Giants" is probably the best. It will appear serially in this paper. Do not miss any part of it.
